GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, JULY 3, 1930

NUMBER 28

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.—Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers and what I run into as I prowl hither and thither. You know I have often said in answer to inquiries as to how I got away with kidding some of our public men, that it was because I liked all of them personally, and that if there was no malice in your heart there could be none in your "gags," and I have always said I never met a man I didn't like.

Even out in Chicago last week, why there is just an awful lot of fine things about the old town besides bullet holes. It's one of the most progressive cities in the world. Shooting is only a side line. It's a great place. You only have to meet it to know it's good. Well, that's the way it is with humans, you read a lot of other people and kinder form a certain opinion.

Now there has been a whole lot in the papers lately about the much discussed prize fight between Jack Sharkey and this young fellow Schmeling, and the sport writers have had a carnival for a year or so writing about the "gabby Gob," and a million and one titles that denoted that he was nothing but a big breeze. Well, I was up in Boston a week or so ago and through a mutual friend I happened to meet this fellow Sharkey. Had a long chat with him and he drove me out to his home and met his wife and three great kids. I had always known and admired him in spite of what was said, for he had always had the reputation of being a very clean living family man and well liked by his neighbors. Now when your neighbors don't get wise to you you must be pretty straight laced.

Well, he told me a lot about the fight, and he told it in a very straightforward way. He didn't have any crying to do, or any Abbie. He says he knows that he hit the fellow right on the belt, but he doesn't think it was below it. He said he never seemed like he was having an easier fight. He said he had trained hard and expected much more opposition out of the fellow, and when this thing came and was standing over in the corner with his hands on the ropes just waiting for them to declare him the winner, when they held up the other fellow's hand here are his words, "Well, my chin dropped and it hit me on the chest (low down on the chest), and it almost killed me."

I said Daniel Webster wrote the dictionary. Well, these Harvardites have been calling me up before daylight telling me it was Noah Webster and not Daniel. How was I to know? I never read the book. I never could get interested in the thing.

Well, anyhow, the mistake will only be noticed in Boston.

(© 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Knocked me out—my heart went down and down out of my leg, then hopped across into the other and come up a way and stopped dead. Here I was with the Championship in my lap and blew it again."

Well, it was really pathetic to hear the fellow explain it.

He has a lovely home out in the fashionable section of Boston. It's built and furnished all in good taste. (That is as far as I am able to judge.)

Round June 22, 1930, here is what will be headlined in the planet Mars morning papers:

"A young man from a place called Earth flew in here yesterday. He had been in the air continuously for two months. He had some letters of introduction from the Chamber of Commerce in a place called Englewood, New Jersey. He asked to have his ship refueled as he is taking off for Venus in the morning."

What can we do for this Bobby Jones that keeps monotonously winning all these golf championships? I would propose him for President, but I haven't got it in for him that bad. On the golf course it's just your opponents that are shooting at you, but it looks like in the White House your friends are the ones you got to watch.

Just been to see Charles Dawes, right from London with an accent longer than his pipe handle. He is a real guy, this Dawes. He can make good at anything. They want to use him in the Chicago racketeer warfare. Both sides are making him offers.

That sweeping victory of Dwight Morrow is going to give many a wet candidate false encouragement. He was running on something besides a platform. He could have run as a Bolshevik and won.

The only thing will keep other States from following New Jersey's example will be there just ain't any more Morrows.

NURSES GRAD. FROM TRAINING SCHOOL

Miss Beth Deming and Miss Violet Williams have completed their courses in Mercy Hospital Nurses Training school and on Thursday night of last week received their diplomas that certify their graduation and that give them the authority to serve in the nurses profession.

It's a well earned honor that these young ladies received and one that each has worked and studied earnestly for during the past three years. The training course they received is one of the most thorough that it is possible for a young lady to have. Under instruction of the Sisters who are graduate nurses with long years of experience, and Doctors Keyport and Clippert, whose skill as physicians and surgeons is generally acknowledged, these young ladies have received their training. They come from good homes and with their school education and natural aptitude for their chosen profession, there is no reason why they shouldn't become the highest type of nurses. Their instructors have done their parts and now it is for them to prove, that they are capable to stand upon their own resources. Those who have observed them in the daily duties have only good things to say for them.

The stage of the auditorium presented a pretty appearance, representing a summer garden with its lattice and profusion of flowers. The class motto was "Virtue is the best prize," and the young ladies chose the pink rose for their flower.

A splendid program was presented upon the occasion of graduation. It was held in the school auditorium Thursday evening, June 28th. T. P. Peterson was the chairman of the occasion, and briefly announced the several numbers on the program.

The principal addresses were given by Rev. Lieut. Col. Dunigan and by Miss Olive Sewell of Lansing, secretary of the Michigan State Nurses Association. Miss Sewell compared the methods of our grandparents' days with those of today. While there was still appreciation and sympathy for those who were pioneers in the nursing profession still the present day graduate must change for the newer methods and practices. She gave a very instructive talk that was filled with practical suggestions and lofty ideals.

Fr. Dunigan was the speaker at the nurses' commencement two years ago and felt honored and pleased at being invited again. That Grayling has a warm place in his heart there is no doubt. He has been coming to Grayling with the National Guards for many years and feels very much at home here and loves its climate, its beautiful scenery and the friends of the lines of the Grayling people. He said that since Miss Sewell had made so fine an address that he wanted to "Just visit," and he talked in a close, friendly manner of things interesting to Grayling people and especially to the young ladies who were receiving their diplomas that night. Fr. Dunigan recited some of the tales of heroism by some of the nurses that played so strong a part in the World War. His talk was an inspiration to "do and dare," and to accept any task that might be placed before them.

At the close of Rev. Dunigan's talk Miss Deming and Miss Williams recited the Florence Nightingale Pledge, giving their lives in behalf of suffering humanity. Dr. Keyport

"A good material that saved me money"

"That's what CELOTEX did, and here is how I figured it. First, I used CELOTEX for sheathing and got stronger insulated walls. This cost me less money than most sheathing and building paper. Second, CELOTEX was used in place of lath, and the plaster bonds more securely on CELOTEX. It cost a trifle more, but I have paid dearly in the past for plaster patches and with CELOTEX I got a stronger sound decorated wall that will be free from lath marks."

"I was able to put in a smaller heating plant and less radiators because I used CELOTEX—oh, yes, I saved these ways."

The story of what CELOTEX can do for you is merely suggested in this business man's remarks.

POPULAR GRAYLING LADY MARRIES ANN ARBOR MAN

On Wednesday morning, June 18th, the St. Thomas Church in Ann Arbor was the scene of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Lovelly, daughter of David Lovelly of this city, and Richard Kearns, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kearns of Ann Arbor. Fr. Allen J. Babcock of Ann Arbor performed the ceremony.

Miss Lovelly was charming in a gown of pale orchid chiffon trimmed with orchid lace. She wore a hair hat of orchid to match and wore a corsage of white roses. Miss Kathryn Kearns, a sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid and was lovely in a gown of pink chiffon with a matching hair hat. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Kearns was assisted by Mr. Ambrose Nannery of Ann Arbor. Only immediate friends and relatives attended the wedding.

At eleven o'clock a three course wedding breakfast was served to thirty guests at the home of the groom's parents.

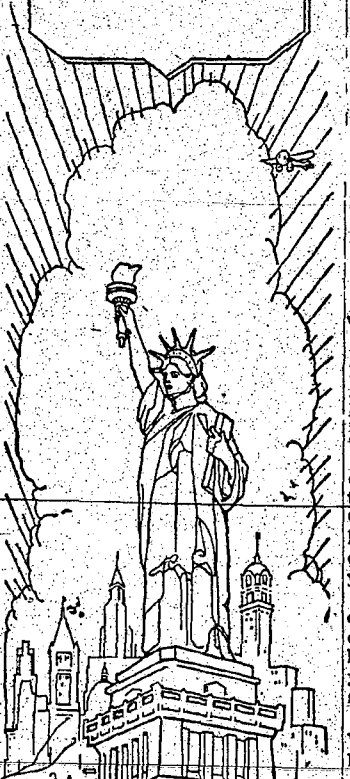

Mrs. Kearns will be employed at the Cooley Gift Shop for the summer. Mr. Kearns holds a responsible position as line foreman for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company and is at present employed in Bay City.

Mrs. Kearns is one of Grayling's most popular young ladies and has a large circle of friends who wish her and her chosen companion much happiness.

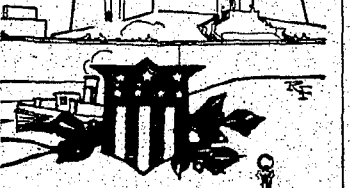

Mrs. Jetta Fisher of Grayling attended the wedding.

In spite of his efforts to stop her, Tom Mix's daughter eloped the other day and was married. What happened to Tom's trusty horse and lasso?

Scientists say that the year on that newly discovered planet is 3,200 times as long as it is on earth. Wonder how long the average honeymoon lasts?

THE NEW RIALTO TO OPEN SOON

This having been the chief topic of conversation in and about town for some little time now it seems timely to at least say "It won't be long now."

Nothing is being left undone that will contribute to the pleasure and comfort of the patrons of the new Rialto.

There will be the very latest type of the Super-Simplex Projectors—an effect machine that will thrill your heart and in keeping with the Rialto policy to always give you the newest creations in the motion picture world, there is being installed the new Magnascreen. The Magnascreen is a wide screen which is the latest development in the motion picture industry today.

The ventilation is of the washed air type to insure plenty of fresh air and comfort thru the warm weather. The presentation policy will consist of four complete changes of program each week. There will be lodges for those who prefer a little privacy and the opening night a special invitation is extended to those present to inspect the projection booth and its equipment.

The Avalanche feels sure that anyone not present at the opening of this beautiful palace of the Talking Cinema will regret it most profoundly, for remember there will be plenty of pleasant surprises in store for you.

We are told that all of the usual opening night events that are generally confined to theatres in the larger cities will be present. So if you stay home don't send us any sob stories.

The opening date and attractions will be announced in next week's paper.

TO HELP OPEN THEATRE

Sometimes when everything seems to be going wrong the unexpected happens which sets everything right again. Such was the case when the

R. J. ELLIOTT

Messrs. Olson learned of Mr. R. J. Elliott's presence in town.

Mr. Elliott has been widely associated with the larger theatre operators, among the most outstanding being Public Theatres in the East and Kunkay-Publix of Detroit.

At length Mr. Elliott has consented to mix work with pleasure and so will assist the Messrs. Olson in giving their theatre a strictly high class opening. Grayling is on top again!

REPLIES TO WHO'S WHO IN GRAYLING

(By Clara L. Atkinson)

Good morning, Mr. Editor:

As I left home this morning, I was thinking about "Who's Who in Grayling."

As I stopped in Alfred Hanson's he greeted me with a smile. I asked him how long he had been in business. He told me 4 years 10 months and 26 days. He also told me he sold and recommended the Goodyear tire and sold the Willard battery. I thanked him and started on my way to the next place which was the Grayling Bakery. There I was greeted with a smile. I asked how long Mr. Craig had owned the bakery. The answer was 2 1/2 years. They also told me that Mr. Craig had supplied the Ford plant in Detroit with bread for 4 years and he can turn out 8,000 loaves of bread daily in Grayling.

As I journeyed on my way, I happened to stop at the Grayling Bank. There I met Mr. Marius Hanson, who told me in a very pleasant way that the Grayling Bank had been established for 23 years. He also told me he had been a resident of Grayling, 50 years. His assistant cashier is his brother, Holger Hanson.

As I came from the bank, I started down the street and stepped in the jewelry store. There I met Carl W. Peterson. I asked him how long he had been in the jewelry business in Grayling. He smiled and said, 8 years. He also told me he recommended the Gruen watch for ladies and the Elgin watch for men.

From there I started on my way to Burke's Garage. As I walked in Mr. Burke looked up and smiled and said, "What can I do for you?" I smiled and asked him the price of a Ford coupe. He looked surprised and answered me, "$561.00 F. O. B. Grayling." He also told me he has been Ford dealer here in Grayling for 17 years and that he recommended the Fisk tire.

From there I started to the Grayling Box Company. There I met the bookkeeper who told me the company has been established 12 years and Mr. Peterson has been manager 8 years. Also that they recommend the John-Manville roofing. I thanked her very kindly and started on my way to the Kerry-Hanson Flooring Company to ask how many they employed. The answer was (85) eighty-five. The three kinds of flooring they manufacture are maple, birch and beech. Also that they furnished the new Hudson building in Detroit with (700,000) seven hundred thousand feet of hard maple flooring.

From there I walked over to the Northern Salvage Company. There I met Mr. Jarmin who told me that he and Mr. Helper had been business partners since November 28, 1927. He said they employ about 10 people at present. He also told me that the firm had been established since November 28, 1927.

From there I went back up town and into the George Alexander office. There I met Fred who told me that his father had been in business 40 years and that he himself had been in the business for 23 years.

GRAYLING WINS GOLF TOURNAMENT

A good time was had at the golf tournament last Sunday when members of Roscommon club played a return match with Grayling. Grayling carried away the honors of the day but the visitors forced our players to shoot hard and carefully, and some good scores were turned in on both sides.

The scores for the Grayling players were as follows:

E. J. Olson	42-46
Emerson Brown	45-44
Holger Hanson	50-48
Carl Johnson	46-46
George Olson	51-55
M. Hanson	49-48
Dr. Clippert	46-46

Among the visiting players taking part in the tournament were: Charles DeWaele, W. Clarence Smith, Cliff Durant, Mr. Doty, Mr. Pontius, Mr. Vincent, Bruce Rutledge, Mr. Weiter, Stanley Breaght.

Vary the tartness of your French dressing occasionally by using in place of plain vinegar, lemon or grapefruit juice, or tarragon vinegar, or spiced vinegar from pickles.

For success in home canning of string beans, corn, peas—in fact all vegetables except tomatoes—the canner should provide the high temperature of the steam pressure canner. Troublesome bacteria are likely to lurk in these nonacid vegetables, and unless killed by adequate processing, they will cause the canned foods to spoil. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, with its nation-wide view of the home canning question, strongly recommends the steam pressure method for all nonacid vegetables. Time tables are sent free on request from Washington.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP TO BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

For more than 15 years the officers and men of Michigan National Guard have been coming to the Hanson State Military reservation at Lake Margrethe for their summer training. It is stated that practically every company in Michigan Guard is allied to the limit. About 4,500 officers and men are expected here this year.

The earliest detachments are scheduled to arrive in camp next Monday and others will arrive almost daily until all contingents are in the field. Major General Guy Wilson will be in command, just as he has been since 1920.

While we have become quite accustomed to having the town run over by guardsmen, and are quite familiar with their training regulations, still it seems that each year they find their welcomes from Grayling people still warmer. Most of the higher officers have been coming here for years and they have made firm friendships that are always ready to welcome them back. And we must not confine this friendliness to the officers only. Many a non-com and doughboy finds comrades here ready to give him the glad hand.

It's great to have these fine young men come back to Grayling. We welcome them heartily. And again, this year, let's do what little we can to still greater increase the friendliness that already so strongly exists.

The coming of the guard also brings big business to Grayling. Our merchants profit from the increase in trade, and this additional patronage is indeed most welcome. It also brings in many visitors, because of the camp and that all means added patronage. Therefore, taking it all in all, there are many blessings coming from the annual encampment here of Michigan National Guard. And we are glad to report that if there is any criticism of the guard camp it is so nil that one would hardly realize it existed.

The annual review day this year will be on Sunday, July 20th. That is always a big event during the encampment period and thousands upon thousands of people from all over Michigan flock here to observe it. Then, again, there is opportunity to manifest genuine friendliness toward those visitors. We understand that there is quite a lot of hostility in some towns against soldier camps. We are glad to be able to say that that has never been the condition here. Instead the welcome sign seems to be hanging to our portals everywhere.

Russia's First "Farm City"

Moscow—The first Soviet "farm city" is to be built in the Khorper region on a "collective farm" comprising 500,000 acres. The city will be built on the model of the new workers' towns, with apartment houses provided with all facilities for communal living, such as large common kitchens and dining rooms, nurseries, etc. The "farm city" is designed to have 44,000 inhabitants, all the adults being connected with the collective farming enterprise in some capacity. A large dairy, two brick factories, and other projects will enable the workers to combine industrial and agricultural functions.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Southern Cross Makes Westward Flight Across the Atlantic Ocean.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

ONCE again the Atlantic has been conquered by aviators, and this time it was the westward passage, made successfully but once before, that was negotiated. Maj. Charles Kingsford Smith of Australia and three companions flew the famous plane Southern Cross from Port Moresby, New Guinea, and made a safe landing at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. Their intended destination was New York, but when they neared the Newfoundland coast they ran into dense fog and for six hours flew blind, losing their course and wandering aimlessly. Meanwhile their fuel was running low and their predicament seemed serious. However, their radio was efficient and the operator, John W. Stannage, kept in constant communication with ships and shore stations. A relief plane was about to take off from Harbor Grace when the Southern Cross came in out of the fog and dropped gracefully to earth.

While Kingsford-Smith, Stannage and their companions, Evert Van Dyk and Capt. J. Patrick Saul, rested after the two thousand mile flight the plane was refueled, and next morning at daylight the trip to New York was resumed. Major Kingsford-Smith said they would fly later to San Francisco, completing a round the world flight for him and the plane.

New York city gave the gallant aviators its customary reception, with pageant, parade, luncheons and dinners. The pilot brought across a letter from President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State to President Hoover, which he planned to deliver in person at the White House.

The directors and executives of the National Air Races sent Major Kingsford-Smith a telegram of warm congratulation and invited him to remain over in Chicago or to return from the Pacific coast to be their guest during the races, which begin August 2nd.

COL. ROBERTO FERRERO, now Mexico's air hero, made a non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City in 16 hours and 35 minutes, a new record and ten hours less than the time taken by Colonel Lindbergh for the trip from Washington to Mexico City last December.

YET another most auspicious event in aviation circles, so to speak, was the birth of a fine son to Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh at Englewood, N. J. The glad news was given all the world immediately by newspaper bulletins and radio broadcasts, and congratulatory messages poured in on the happy parents. The colonel was characteristically reticent, but Ambassador Morrow proclaimed himself the happiest grandfather in the world. In filling out the birth certificate Mrs. Lindbergh designated herself as a professional flier and gave her home as St. Louis, Mo.

Rear Admiral Byrd and Colonel Lindbergh met in a New York hotel and exchanged congratulations. Byrd mentioned the birth of Lindbergh's son and the colonel's high altitude coast to coast flight. Lindbergh spoke glowingly of the aerial trip to the South pole. He left his congratulations for Rear Admiral Byrd, the pilot of Byrd's plane on his polar dash.

PRESIDENT HOOVER last week was compelled by his honest convictions to veto another pension bill, and this time the veto was upheld by the house of representatives. The measure was the World war veterans bill originating in the house and passed by the senate despite Mr. Hoover's warning that he would not approve it. Only six senators voted against the bill, which the President said was "bad legislation," against the best interests of the veterans themselves and placing "an unjustified load upon the taxpayers at a time every effort should be made to lighten it."

As soon as the senate had acted the Republicans of the house held a caucus and enough votes were pledged to sustain the veto. To facilitate action the house accepted the senate amendments and the measure was sent to Mr. Hoover. Then, immediately after his veto message was received, the vote sustaining it was taken. A substitute bill was then rushed through the house, with the prospect of definite action on it by the senate within a few days. The new measure embodies the pension system. Its initial annual cost to the government will be $30,000,000, which will increase to $30,000,000 in three years. It will apply to probably 200,000 veterans (in addition to 245,000 now receiving compensation) whose pensions will range from $12 to $40 a month, depending upon the degree of disability. The vetoed bill, according to Director Hines of the veterans' bureau, would have cost $102,000,000 the first year and ultimately would have added $225,000,000 annually to the present expenditures for veterans.

BY A vote of 16 to 4 the senate foreign relations committee reported the London naval treaty to the senate for approval. Neither Chairman Borah nor the warmest advocates of the pact on the committee submitted any written report explaining and commending it. The four who refused to recommend its ratification were Johnson of California, Moses of New Hampshire, Robinson of Indiana and Shipstead of Minnesota.

President Hoover remained steadfast in his intention of calling an immediate special session of the senate to act on the treaty, although twenty-four senators signed a round robin petition asking him to abandon this plan and allow consideration of the pact to be postponed until after the November elections. The protesting senators declared they were sworn to their public duties, the senate having been in almost continuous session since December, 1928, and that many of them had been compelled to neglect their private affairs.

Administration leaders are confident the treaty will be ratified eventually, but admit the controversy will be long and bitter. The opposition has prepared proposed reservations which would include the following declarations:

That the treaty involves no permanent surrender of the previously claimed right of the United States to build as it pleases.

That under the so-called "escape clause" America can build whatever type of ship it desires in the event of England or Japan building beyond the treaty limits because of the construction programs of nations not signatory to the pact.

That under the replacement clauses Great Britain can replace her 6-inch gun cruisers with ships of that category.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S vacation tour plans for which already include visits to some of the national parks in the West, may also take him down to Mexico to Ascut. Both the Mexican government and Ambassador Morrow have invited him, and after a conference in the White House Mr. Morrow said:

"I strongly urged President Hoover to visit Mexico while I am there and I believe that he will do so. He plans to make a trip during August which will bring him to the Mexican border, and I believe that it would go a long way to cement our good relations if he would visit that country. I know that he wishes to do so and has only postponed his visit because of the press of business."

God!

You cannot always tell the real people by their surface utterances. Often our speech is formal, controlled by all the rules of convention, but our hearts are tuned to the deep and big things of life. It seems that we are forever playing at a game of make-pretend. The world reads the surface message of our lives, and only God fathoms the secrets of our hearts.

"I think about God."

Yet I talk of small matters.

Now isn't it odd

How my idle tongue chatters

Of quarrelsome neighbors,

Fine weather and rain,

Indifferent labors,

Indifferent pain,

Some trivial style

Fashion shifts with a nod.

Yet all the while

I am thinking of GOD."

The Log Office Says

Interesting bits of news and comment about Northeastern Michigan gathered by the E. M. T. A.

Mio Comes In 100% E. M. T. A.

When you take a trip to Mio this summer,—up in Oscoda County, you know, along the world-renowned AuSable,—don't be amazed to see a great banner stretched across the main street of the town. And this banner, dear readers, will say, "Mio—Cooperating 100% with the East Michigan Tourist Association." We're proud of that! All business places in this hospitable little rallying ground for fishermen, hungry motorists and vacationists, this week became members of the E. M. T. A. So far, that's a championship. Any challengers?

Counties Vote Additional Support

Our worries are lightened, now that some of our counties have proved their loyalty. Extra loyalty, we'll have to say. For the counties of Montmorency, Oscoda, Ogemaw, Roscommon and Crawford have voted additional sums to their regular appropriations for our advertising work! And another thing—Clare County at this week's meeting of supervisors, voted to continue its regular annual subscription, thus coming in on the home stretch and reversing its decision of last October. You know, we don't care how hard we work when we're appreciated.

We Have Not!

We have not given out incorrect road information. We have not said that the roads were in bad condition between here and anywhere in the northeastern counties. Whenever we have been asked, we have told of the splendid highways which carry the motorist through all the scenic beauties on the map of East Michigan's vacationland. We have not advertised nationally, through magazines and newspapers, to bring hundreds of thousands of vacationing folks to this part of the state in order to tell them that the roads are anything less than wonderful. All these "have-nots," with impatience at those who indulge in such chattering!

LOLA BELLE CRAVEN

1910-1930.

"I am living in the happy anticipation of finding you at the other end of the road."—A Friend.

Keen was the hurt of grief in the communities of Frederic and Grayling when it became generally known that the spirit of Lola Craven had escaped its torment of clay and gone to make its home with God.

Born into this world, August 14, 1910, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craven, Lola grew to young womanhood in Frederic. The passing of the years found the ties of affection binding her more closely to her home and to her friends so that to know her was to love her. Graduated from Frederic High School, she came to Mercy Hospital, Grayling, two years ago to pursue the course of nursing. Her choice of professions, and her later contacts with those in authority and the friends of the hospital, revealed a beautiful soul eager to minister to life in its hours of pain. It is not an easy task to follow in the footsteps of the others who have set such an example in this most sacred ministry, but those who knew her best are kindest in their words of appreciation of her noble service.

Hers was not to be the ministry of many years, but the service of sacrificial quality. Life for her was not to be measured by its length, but by its depth of tenderness and patience, and its breadth of sympathy.

Two weeks ago Saturday, in company with Miss Elsie Burke, she left for Detroit on vacation. Becoming ill on the following Tuesday, she went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. R. J. Brennan, Detroit, in order to have proper care. Here everything was done that medical skill and kind friends could contribute, but the struggle was without avail, so that on Sunday morning at 4:30 A. M. the disease became the victor and she departed this life.

In her sudden death the grief of the parents is more intensified in that she was the last surviving child. Four children came to cheer their home, and all four have preceded them in death. Leslie, twenty-four years of age, died seven years ago; Carl, died in infancy. Erma (Mrs. Preston) departed this life two years ago, and now the youngest and only surviving child has been taken. Truly the ways of God are past finding out.

The funeral was held from her late home in Frederic and from the Methodist Protestant Church there on Wednesday afternoon at 2 P. M. (Standard Time). Services at the home and church and grave being taken by the Rev. J. W. Greenwood of Grayling, assisted by Rev. Earle J. G. Clippert and Mrs. Roy Milnes in two appropriate duets.

Student nurses acted as pallbearers and the graduates were the to go in one of these days.—Dayton newspaper pallbearers and flower bearers. All were in nurse uniform.

A host of relatives and friends were in attendance. Among those coming from more remote places were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nichols and family, Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brennan and family, Detroit; Mrs. Gilbert Crane and son of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Max Tobin, Johannesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bohn, and Mrs. R. N. Larmore, Flint; Mrs. P. M. Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Troop, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Serven, Mr. Wm. T. Dunne, Mrs. Walter Serven, Mrs. Cora Stevens, Mt. Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Riley, Petoskey; Mrs. Madelon McCall, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mason, Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. Don Sheldon, Osego, Mich.; Mrs. Ruby Bliss and daughter, Flint.

The Avalanche extends its deepest sympathy to the bereft parents in their terrible loss.

"I pay you what is the nest to me, My empty nest?"

And what is the shore where I used to see

My boat sail down to the west?

Can I call that home where I anchor yet,

Though my loved ones all have sailed?

Can I call that home where my nest was set,

Now all its hope hath failed?

Nay, but the port where the Pilot went,

And the land where my nest-lings be;

There is the home where my thoughts are sent,

The only home for me—Ah, me!"

MAKE IT SAFE AND SANE

If you do not enjoy a safe and sane Fourth of July the chances are it will be your own fault.

A wise legislature has taken the children out of the danger zone by banning the deadly cracker and other noise-making devices which left a trail of death and broken and torn bodies in their wake.

But how about yourself. As a person who has reached the age of discretion we would like to ask you a few questions.

If you travel about next Friday will you promise to drive carefully? Will you promise to observe all the rules of the road and do everything in your power to prevent a traffic accident from arising?

Before departing on your trip will you promise to see that your car is in perfect mechanical condition, as to brakes, lights, etc?

If you visit a water resort will you agree to take every possible precaution to prevent a single member of your party becoming the victim of a drowning accident?

As a good citizen will you do your part to give Michigan the most safe and sane Fourth of July it has ever known?

Of course promises are all right but it has been our experience that the promises will bite just as hard in one's own back yard.

The filling stations are getting so classy one may have to have a card to get in one of these days.—Dayton (Ohio) Journal.

STILL TIME TO ENROLL IN BOYS AND GIRLS CAMP

Camp Daggett on Walloon Lake near Petoskey is striking a "happy chord" with the young boys and girls of this part of Michigan by the fine summer camps they are making possible.

The cost for a boy or girl is only $1.00 per day, which includes meals and lodging. Just about as cheap as a youngster can be fed at home. And besides they come in contact with a lot of nice young people, receive training in outdoor activities and are under the supervision of trained leaders.

The next girls camp begins July 12th and lasts until the 19th. This period will be in charge of Miss Rosalind Lewis, a teacher in Grayling school.

The next boys camp will be from July 21 to August 2. Another will be from August 4th to 10th. If interested see Emil Giegling or Rev. Greenwood.

WELL ORDERED VACATION. A GOOD TYPE OF HEALTH IN- SURANCE

(By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift).

A well-ordered vacation is by no means a waste of time. It is a good example of thrift. For it is just as thrifty to conserve one's health and energies as it is to save and conserve one's material resources.

These thoughts are appropriate at this time as the summer vacation period is now at hand. There is a very close connection between the vacation problem and the health problem because in the final analysis a vacation has become to be considered a necessity in these days of strenuous activity.

Recently there was completed a remarkable survey of health conditions in the City of New York. The health facts discovered there may, with more or less accuracy, be recorded as typical of the entire country and are, therefore, of general public value. Here are some of the facts regarding health conditions in the nation's largest city: From 125,000 to 200,000 persons are continually sick in bed and from 250,000 to 800,000 more are constantly ill, of the 70,000 deaths per year, a very large percentage are from sickness that might have been prevented or postponed; the total annual outlay for the care of disease is $150,000,000; the annual loss in wages due to illness is $75,000,000; amount spent annually in the prevention of ill-health, $5,500,000.

We hear much about losses incurred by the public through fraudulent and unsound investments. Needless and preventable losses of time and money through ill-health constitute an even heavier economic drain on the country.

Health thrift is more important than money thrift because without money we still can work and win, but without health we are helpless and advancement is practically impossible.

Fortunately, more thought constantly is being given to thrift of health. It was recently announced that the Rockefeller Foundation last year spent more than $21,000,000 in practical and experimental medical work while within recent years it has spent $144,800,000 for the same noble purposes.

Vacations are taken for the purpose of conserving one's health. When they are so planned and carried out as to be helpful along these lines, they are by no means a waste of time—they are, quite to the contrary, a good example of thrift.

NO MORE "GERMAN BROWN TROUT" NOR WALL EYED PIKE

The name "German Brown Trout" is a misnomer and in the future this species of fish will be known officially as "Brown Trout."

The name "German Brown" as applied to the fish is "inappropriate," according to the Institute of Fisheries Research of the Department of Conservation.

It was first applied probably "because the veteran fish culturist Von Behr was instrumental in introducing this species from Germany to America. It has also been called Von Behr's trout," says a bulletin from the Institute.

"The species is common in suitable waters over most of Europe," the bulletin continues, "and the name 'German Brown' is inappropriate. The commonest form in Europe is called 'brook trout' but that name of course, is out of the question for us, because we use it for the type of fish called charr, or saibling in Europe."

In the future all mention of this species in laws, correspondence, bulletins, etc., will be as of "brown trout," and the public is being urged to adopt that name.

The name "wall eyed pike" is no longer in use in official communications and in laws relating to this species in Michigan.

This species is now known officially as Pike-Perch. Pike-Perch are known and shipped as "yellow pickerel" and as "yellow" among the commercial fishermen of the state. The same fish is known as a "dore" or "dory" in Canada.

THE TRAPPING OF TURTLES FORBIDDEN

While there is no law or regulation in this state protecting turtles, the use of traps that might injure fish life is forbidden, according to the Division of Fisheries of the Department of Conservation.

Turtles may be killed in any manner, in any numbers at any time of the year, with the exception of that one method of capture, it was said, one method of capture, it was said, one method of capture, it was said.

The Division has received several inquiries relative to the edibility of the various kinds of turtles found in Michigan, the habits of these turtles and as to the market for them.

The soft shelled turtle and the snapping are the best known forms of edible turtles found in this state. "The soft shelled turtle is highly esteemed as food, and is easily taken in traps," according to the Fish Division.

The common snapping turtle is also used as food although only the smaller specimens are desired as the older turtles have a disagreeable odor and the flesh is tough. This turtle feeds on frogs, fishes, crawfish, young water birds and such other forms of life as it can capture. The snapping turtle is vicious. The oil made from the turtle is said to be valued for medicinal properties.

An investigation is now being conducted by the Department of Conservation to determine the destructiveness of turtles to fish life, especially as pertains to hatchery operations. It is believed, however, that turtles' diet is composed largely of vegetable matter, mollusks, insect larvae, etc.

Turtles are desirable in inland lakes as they are also scavengers and feed on dead fish.

Dynamite and Hailstones Free Your Emotions Gambling Never Pays Providence Provides

Lightning struck a boat carrying dynamite, off Cockburn Island, in the St. Lawrence, killing thirty, blowing the big $100,000 boat to splinters. We like to read about that.

At St. John's, Newfoundland, wind-dows, roofs, were broken, animals killed by hailstones weighing ten pounds each. We've heard of hailstones as big as hens' eggs, but not as big as hens. That interests 1,000,000 of us where Einstein interests one.

The learned Dr. W. J. Mayo, earth's greatest surgeon, able to remove anything you have, except your citizenship and your complexes, warns you that restraining your emotions is bad for your heart. Every time your mind interferes to check your instinctive impulses, the heart suffers. That will encourage modern young people, increasing their expectation of long life.

When you suddenly jam on your four-wheel brakes, your tires suffer; so with your heart when you suddenly apply your will and control the emotions, which are your driving force.

Capitally Saul of the Southern Cross can testify to man's progress in transportation. As navigator of the Southern Cross he flew the Atlantic in two days.

Some years ago he made his first Atlantic crossing in a square rigged sailing vessel, and was six months on the journey.

In spite of that, many still doubt that ocean air travel will ever "become practical."

Children of today will ask about the old days when people crossed the ocean on the water, as they now ask about stage coach days.

And those now living will cross to Europe for about $10.

Charles S. Waters, his savings gone, killed his wife, his daughter and himself.

The money went in stock gambling. Gambling causes suicides, ruin, poverty, sorrow.

Boozing whisky causes some suicides, many murders.

Leave stock gambling and bootlegging alone.

The kindness of Providence supplies us with things when we need them. The ravens fed Elijah.

After the Napoleonic wars Europe, heavily in debt, faced long poverty.

Then came steam power, debts were paid, prosperity was great.

Kings and nobles in steel armor enjoyed leading miserable peasants to war. The latter were left dead, the nobles in their armor rode back. Then gunpowder and bullets went through the armor, nobles and kings went home, wars became less frequent.

The automobile made gigantic supplies of gasoline necessary. The country yields so much oil the oil men don't know what to do with it.

Finally, in flying, clouds and fog, out of sight of land, make necessary information in midocean.

And the radio supplies it. The flyers arriving from Ireland say that without the guiding radio they could not have made the flight. As we need things we get them.

Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt says: "Character building begins in the cradle." Parents should train children from their babyhood.

An old English horse trainer, asked "When should I begin training my colt," and told that the colt was three weeks old, said: "You have lost the three most important weeks."

Children should be trained with kindness and explanation, never with whipping or other brutality, from babyhood.

But don't waste too much time correcting and nagging concerning faults that the child will outgrow with time; and not otherwise.

Two kinds of bad news from India. In the Madras presidency police firing at a crowd of "rebels," wounded seven.

More serious, from the Imperial point of view, is the disastrous slump in cotton prices on the Bombay market. Price restrictions have been withdrawn and many failures of cotton merchants are expected.

Wall Street wit which described a broker opening his order book, releasing several moths, now says, "Constructive forces are now in the saddle, but the saddle is not on the horse."

That talk is pleasing to the busy bears, but saddle and horse may be together soon and bears less happy.

Allan Hoover, son of the President, bought a set of union overalls and has gone to work in a New Jersey plant of the American Radiator company. He wants to "learn the man's facturing business from the bottom."

The best way to do that would be to get a job as office boy with Mr. Clarence Woolley, top head of the American Radiator company, and listen to observations made by that gentleman in the course of business. He really does know the business from the bottom up.

The American people do not want to get into any new European war. That is why our government has been so slow to join international organizations which might hamper our freedom of action in case of trouble. Our people feel that they can't beat preserve the interests of peace and safety, and doing what they can when the time comes, to prevent the scourge of war.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

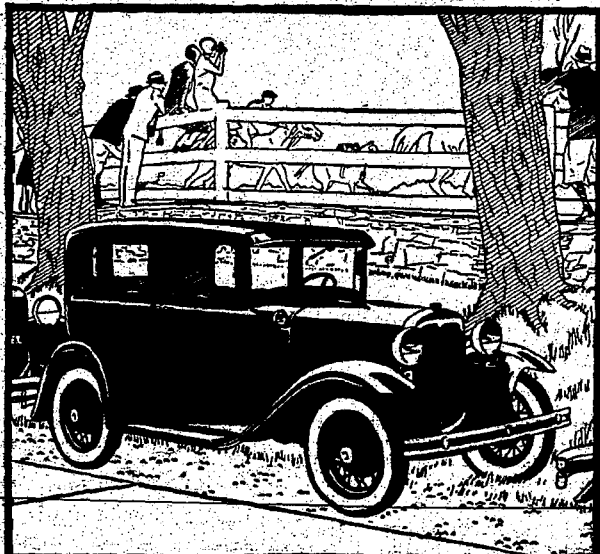

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

PROGRESS IN BUSINESS

The day of the store keeper is past and that of the merchant is here. That is one of the difficulties of the present situation. The process of selling goods is changing.

In the older days all that was required was a building and a stock in trade. People came and bought and if they could not find what suited them in one place they passed on to another. Very few store keepers bothered themselves to give the best service to their patrons.

A few years ago this condition began to change. Stores became business institutions which sold goods on the basis of quality. Stores became attractive places. The floor was kept clean. The loafers who talked politics around the stove were told to move elsewhere. Merchandise was displayed to be looked at and to sell itself.

The store keeper who had fed or clothed families without receiving pay for his merchandise decided to sell for cash. The number of different articles were standardized into simplified groups. Changes in the methods of distribution from the factories were established.

Now the merchant who simply unlocks his door and lets customers in is not successful. He must join the march of progress. He must do what is necessary to build and maintain business. He must be a merchant, not a store keeper.

IT IS NOT SO ESSENTIAL

We place too much stress upon money. The best things in life are not those things which cost the most.

In the matter of public health, money may be essential to treat disease, but not so necessary to prevent it. The essentials to good health are exercise, fresh air, sleep and plain food. Exercise is free to those who have energy enough to seek it. Fresh air abounds—except in a few of the larger cities where the summer heat oppresses. Plain food costs money, but not as much as many foods of the expensive sort. More people should eat more of that which costs less. And sleep is cheap too. Most people burn the candle from both ends and complain of being tired.

In happiness there is no need for expense. Those whose pleasures are based upon too strong financial basis or demand, are living falsely. Happiness must be found in one's own attitude. Then the common things of life become sources of entertainment and pleasure.

Money, to some extent, is essential. Too many stress its importance too strongly.—Grand Rapids (Minn.) Herald-Review.

SUMMER FOODS

How hot weather illnesses may be avoided through correct choice of foods is told in a pamphlet issued by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association for housewives who recognize the dangers to health existing in poorly balanced summer meals, but do not know how to plan healthful menus. Material in the pamphlet was prepared by Professor Margaret Ruffington, Nutrition Department of Michigan State Normal College.

A clear description of the kinds and quantities of foods needed by the body is given in the pamphlet. Miss Ruffington advises for an average grown person's daily menu one leafy and one raw vegetable, two fruits, one pint of milk, meat not more than once a day, a whole grain product, eggs two or three times a week and small portions of butter and fats. She recommends that each summer meal should include some warm dish, as an aid to digestion.

Interested housewives can secure the complete pamphlet free of charge by requesting it from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, Lansing. Readers of this newspaper may make their request by clipping this article and sending it to the Association with name and address.

ICE PATROL ENDED

The Hydrographic Bureau of the Navy announces that the ice patrol in the northern Atlantic has been discontinued for this year, after a week of careful search failed to locate any bergs menacing steamship traffic lanes. The patrol, which is instituted each year to prevent marine disasters, was initiated this year in February, the first report of ice in shipping lanes being made Feb. 12, an unusually large number of bergs being reported. The patrol was first started by the navy in 1912, shortly after the Titanic disaster and has been continued each spring since, starting with the movement south of bergs which have broken from the polar ice cap. A berg, when discovered, is sometimes destroyed with high explosives or, if this is not feasible, a watch is kept on the mass of ice and its position radioed to the shipping world.

Many brick masons say that all flies leak but agricultural engineers of the U. S. Department of Agriculture assert that a fue can be made tight and that it should be subjected to a smoke test before a heater is connected to it. Build a paper, straw, wood fire at the base of the fue and when the smoke makes a dense column, tightly block the outlet at the top by laying a wet blanket over it. The blanket must be kept wet as long as it is in place. Flues tested in this way often reveal serious leaks into adjoining flues, directly through the walls, or between the linings and the walls.

"Farming is not only a business but a mode of living," says a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture publication, "Rural Buildings for Business and Social Uses," "and in recognition of this idea modern farm business organizations are erecting rural buildings to relate the economic and social factors of agriculture." This publication, which can be obtained by sending to the Department of Agriculture for Farmers' Bulletin 1622-F, contains descriptions, plans, and photographs of rural community buildings in different parts of the country.

Treatment with borax or hellebore will destroy many of the stable fly and house fly larvae that breed in manure. Use the powdered form of borax at the rate of 1 pound to each 16 cubic feet of manure, scattering it over the pile and then sprinkling it with water. Hellebore costs more than borax. If it is used, soak one-half pound of the material in 10 gallons of water for 24 hours and use his quantity to treat about eight bushels of manure. Neither borax nor hellebore will injure the fertilizing value of manure if applied in these quantities and if not more than 15 tons of the treated manure is applied per acre.

Beavers Are Workers. Beavers are good woodsmen. In one case they are known to have cut through a balsam poplar 46 inches across the stump. A remarkable part of the work of beavers is the carrying they do, says the U. S. Biological Survey. On land they will drag heavy poles or good-sized branches, holding them with their strong incisor teeth. To carry stones they use their paws and arms, and often bring up from the bottom of a pond stones weighing 8 or 10 pounds.

Use Oil and Common Sense. Stop and waste coals: often get broken or bent handles or are otherwise rendered useless because people do not understand how they are made. When bought, the nut on the handle of the plug is generally screwed up tight, making it difficult or impossible to turn the handle and the plug. Long periods of disuse frequent cause the plug to stick fast, but it may be easily loosened by slightly unscrewing the bottom nut and by lightly tapping the lower end of the plug with a hammer. From time to time the plug should have a drop of lubricating oil. Slight leakage caused by wear of the plug or by dirt around it may be remedied by cleaning the plug and tightening the bottom nut. A plug badly worn may be reground, but it is usually better and cheaper to get a new plug or a complete new cock.

COW MOOSE SEEN ON STATE HIGHWAY. Inspector H. M. Agler of the Conservation Department's Law Enforcement Division was driving along on Highway U. S. 2, within sight of the village of Moran in Mackinac County. It was about three o'clock in the afternoon.

A number of cows were feeding near the right-of-way. Ahead he saw two animals feeding near the road. He watched them, as a cautious driver does, to determine whether they were going to walk out in front of his automobile.

Agler was a hundred yards away when he discovered that they were not cows, but two full grown cow moose. He stopped his car. Both animals looked at him inquiringly and trotted off to the woods.

Other instances of the presence of moose in that section of the peninsula have been reported this spring. Three moose were killed by automobiles in Chippewa, the adjoining county, last year.

In Boston applicants for drivers' permits must state the color of hair on their applications. Does this mean that a bald headed man can't get a permit to drive an automobile?

Farm Notes

Cattle should not be fed within 24 hours before slaughter, though they may have access to fresh water.

Range where growing poultry has been kept continuously is likely to be in poor condition in late summer. If the range or yard is bare, the chickens should be changed to fresh land, or the soil should be spaded up or cultivated. Equipment such as feed hoppers and drinking vessels should be moved if the space around them has become bare. Land to be used for raising the pullets should not be fertilized with poultry manure, as this may spread worms or diseases to the growing stock.

The type of house best suited for rabbits depends principally on the climate, but the essential features of any rabbit house, wherever located, are light and fresh air. A moderate-sized house is preferable to a very large one, as rabbits kept in small units are less likely to contract disease. The United States Department of Agriculture will send on request Leaflet 15-1, containing drawings and bills of material for a rabbit house, two types of hutches, a portable nest-box, and a colony-growing house.

Spiced cherries, preserved with vinegar, make a good relish. Here's a recipe: Wash and pit large, sour cherries. Add three-fourths of their weight or measure of sugar, sprinkle the sugar over the fruit in layers and let them stand overnight. In the morning stir until the sugar is dissolved and then press the juice well from the cherries. Tie a small quantity of whole spices in a loose cheesecloth bag, drop this into the juice, and boil it down until it is three-fourths of the original quantity. Pour hot over the drained cherries and add 2 tablespoons of vinegar to each pint. Seal and keep two weeks before using.

Inside Information

Paint or varnish spatters on glass may be dissolved with turpentine or alcohol or may be rubbed off with a dull knife.

Has your dustpan a firm straight edge which fits the floor so that part of the dust is not brushed underneath? A long-handled dustpan saves much stooping.

Strong soap or soap powder should not be used on dishes decorated with gilt, because these cleaning materials may contain substances which are injurious to gilt.

To remove grass stains from washable materials, treat them while fresh with hot water and soap, rubbing vigorously. If traces of stain remain on white linen or cotton fabrics, they may be bleached out with Javelle water.

A few grains of pop corn on top of a plate of corn soup gives an attractive appearance. A spoonful of whipped cream is a good garnish for cream soups, and adds to the food value.

Babbitt east of Loon lake near Lovells when he was found with a .32 calibre Savage rifle in his car. Just what a fellow would want of a .32 calibre rifle in his car at this time of the year is hard to understand.

To honor the graduate nurses, the Sisters of Mercy and the student nurses of Mercy Hospital entertained at a banquet last Thursday evening in the dining room of the hospital. There were places set for eight—namely, Beth Deming, Violet Williams, Irene McKay, Fay Matheson, Clarissa Welsh, Pauline Schoonover, Dorothy May, and Retta Leadbeater, pretty place-cards marking the various places. A three course dinner was served which the guests enjoyed very much. A short program followed the banquet.

High mass was celebrated at 10:30 o'clock following which the confirmation ceremonies were held. Besides Fr. J. L. Culligan, Bishop Pinton was assisted by Dr. Thomas Noa, president of St. Joseph's seminary, Grand Rapids, who accompanied him. The church altars were beautiful with flowers with white predominating, and a large choir rendered the hymns during the mass. It was necessary to provide extra seats for the large congregation, probably one of the largest if not the largest the church has held. Bishop Pinton following a short sermon in which he nicely greeted the congregation, gave the children the usual instruction.

PLACES TO WHO'S WHO IN GRAYLING

I also that his phone number is 101-J. He also told me that he gave a day service.

From the Grayling Laundry I started south to the Grayling Greenhouses to see the beautiful flowers and to ask Mr. Borchert and Mrs. Borchert how long they have been partners. They told me they have been partners six weeks. I asked them how many feet of glass there are in the greenhouses. They told me 4,500 feet. Their phone number is 44-W.

From there I went up town to Glad Sorenson and Son. The great radio store. There I saw Herliuf and asked him how long his store had been established. He told me since December 1st, 1900. I also asked him what hours it is open. He said from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. The candy featured here is Mary Lee and Morse's.

From there I went across the street to the Pure Food Store. As I went in I met Mr. Schlotz with a smile and asked him how long he has had his grocery store. He told me 11 1/2 years. I also asked him how long he has lived in Grayling. He told me 26 1/2 years. The coffee featured here is Golden Moon.

Then I walked down the street to the Gift Shop. There I met Mrs. B. A. Cooley. She told me they had been in Grayling for 10 years and that they have been in business for the same length of time. The Economy Store is located on Cedar street.

From there I came back to the Corwin Auto Sales Garage. There I met Mr. Corwin with the same smile that he greets everybody with, all day long. I asked him how long his father had been in business and he said 8 years. I asked him what tires they sell. He said Goodrich and Kisk. They also sell the Biltwell batteries. I thanked him.

From there I went over to the Grayling Mercantile Company and asked how long that company has been in business. They told me 28 years. It has been established the same length of time. Allen-A hostler is featured here.

From there I went across the street to the Hanson Hardware Company. Another eighty-year-old "youngster" in the person of Geo. M. Gardner of Charlotte, Mich., was met in the bus station in Lansing while I was waiting for a bus to Saginaw. Mr. Gardner is a veteran of the Civil War and his ambition is to be sole surviving member of the A. S. Williams Post, G.A.R., and this ambition seems to be in a fair way of being realized, as there are less than a dozen living members now. He carries a cane but holds himself erect and moves with much of the sprightliness of former years. Mr. Gardner spoke of visits to this locality—Grayling and Roscommon—in the lumbering days, hunting and fishing, and of boat trips down the AuSable, and in no gentle words cursed the dams that now block the river, and damned the "cusses" who were responsible for their erection—for he said in early days you could float unhindered from Grayling to Oscoda at the river's mouth.

From there I went back down to Main street. I walked into Hanson's Cafe. I asked how long Mr. Hanson has had the cafe in Grayling. I was told that he has had this cafe 7 years and that it is open 24 hours. Arctic ice cream is featured by the cafe.

From the cafe I went back across the river to my mother's store, the South Side Grocery. I asked her how long she has lived in Grayling. She told me 14 years and 9 months and 13 days. She also told me that she has owned the store for 4 years. The phone number is 119.

I rested awhile and started on my way to J. F. Smith's Service Station. As I walked over to the counter where he was standing, he asked me if there was anything he could do for me. I told him I had some questions to ask him. First, how long he has had the station. He told me 6 years. Second, what hours his station is open. He answered me, from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. He told me that the lowest priced oil per quart sold at his station is Polarine which sells at 25c per quart.

Then I went back down to Main street to the Sweet Shop. There I met Earl Hewitt. I asked him how long he had been in business. He told me 6 years and that he has owned the Sweet Shop for the same length of time. I asked him what hours it is open. He told me it is open from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. I thanked him and then went up the street to John Cowell's home. I knocked at the door and Mr. Cowell himself came to the door. I asked him when he first came to Grayling. He told me Sept. 1878. He told me that he had been specializing in marbleizing for 8 years and that concrete products can be marbleized.

On my way home I stopped at Waldemar Jensen's workshop. I asked him how long he has lived in Grayling. He told me 36 years. His phone number is 41-R. I also asked him when he did the art work in the dining room of the Shoppensons Inn. He told me February 1st, 1930.

As I walked my story, I hope I have found out as near as possible "Who's Who in Grayling."

ELDERADO NUGGETS

Work on the South Branch Church is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Babcock have moved here from Gladwin.

Mrs. Morton Kline and daughters, Helen and Elizabeth, of Louisville, Ky., are here to spend the summer at the home of Mrs. K.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Crane.

Sunday School is being held in the Eldorado school house under the auspices of the Mennonite Church of Fairview.

Mrs. George Jones, who has been quite seriously ill for about two weeks, is slowly recovering.

James F. Crane has a new DeLoe Light plant purchased from George Burke of Grayling.

Mrs. Mattie Punsch returned Friday from a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Punsch. She has accepted a position in the Midland school for the coming year.

The South Branch Community meeting, held at the town hall Saturday evening was well attended. After a good program and supper, everyone returned home very well pleased. Officers were elected and other meetings will be held the last Saturday evening of each month.

To get the greatest yield and best quality of clover seed, cure and store the crop with as little wetting as possible, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Wetting about in the field or stack, or wetting it in the new barnyard, is unnecessary. Let it become as ripe as possible without loss from shelling, cut it in good, bright weather, and protect it from the rain.

CONVALESCENT

The writer has just got settled down to work again after several weeks absence down in the "old home town" and in Columbus, Ohio, convalescing from a complication of "Spring fever" and "no-write-us". Perhaps YOU missed neither The Space Filler nor his column, but it's nice to know that someone remembers I was on getting back to Grayling, when I stepped off the early morning train and went into Hanson's restaurant to get a bite, to be greeted by the village baker (who was refreshing himself with some "Dawn Donuts" and coffee) with: "Let's see, your face looks familiar—you're from Pontiac, ain't you?" I assured him I was a long way from Pontiac—but then perhaps he was not referring to the State asylum at all.

EIGHTY YEARS YOUNG

The Space Filler wishes to extend thanks to H. C. McKinley, of Gaylord, an old-time newspaper man and printer, who kindly consented to "sub." for him while he was on his vacation. Mr. McKinley is eighty, looks under sixty, and shows more vitality and "pep" than many men of fifty years and less.

CURSED THE DAMS

Another eighty-year-old "youngster" in the person of Geo. M. Gardner of Charlotte, Mich., was met in the bus station in Lansing while I was waiting for a bus to Saginaw. Mr. Gardner is a veteran of the Civil War and his ambition is to be sole surviving member of the A. S. Williams Post, G.A.R., and this ambition seems to be in a fair way of being realized, as there are less than a dozen living members now. He carries a cane but holds himself erect and moves with much of the sprightliness of former years. Mr. Gardner spoke of visits to this locality—Grayling and Roscommon—in the lumbering days, hunting and fishing, and of boat trips down the AuSable, and in no gentle words cursed the dams that now block the river, and damned the "cusses" who were responsible for their erection—for he said in early days you could float unhindered from Grayling to Oscoda at the river's mouth.

MAKE NO MISTAKE

The editor mentioned last week that he had contracted for a column of Will Rogers' stuff to appear weekly in the Avalanche—beginning this week. Now lest the reader should get this column and Mr. Rogers' column mixed, we call attention to the fact that the heads at the top of each column are different—and are also the heads behind the columns. You all know Will Rogers—he's from the West and went on the vaudeville stage with his dry jokes and those clever roping tricks, got onto the movie screen and into the talkies, and is broadcasted regularly over the radio. The writer of this column was never farther West than Joliet, Illinois—the seat of the State penitentiary—couldn't, with a forty foot lariat, rope a gatepost standing still; wouldn't know a movie screen from a state highway gravel screen, and could hardly tell a radio broadcasting station from a freight station on the D. & M. R. R.—so if you do make a mistake it will be immaterial to him, but he wouldn't like to have Will feel "pewed."

"FORE"

While in Columbus the writer made his first complete trip, around an 18-hole golf course—one of the several supported in Ohio's capital—company with an Irishman from London, England, who has been a resident of Columbus for some years, and another friend. I started out as spectator, but was importuned to try a few shots and see what I could do. This was but the second time I had had a golf club in my hands and I thought I was going fine, when the caddy—a young Italian urchin—spoke up and said that if I would pay a little more attention to my posture and to the manner in which I grasped the club, with a little more practice I would be able to slice as big a chunk of turf from the green as the work of them from the Irishman.

I had a little satisfaction, however, in winning a handful of nickels from the Irishman in wagers of a nickel a hole against his ability to make them in par or less. He is an expert and has a drive like Babe Ruth, and usually makes the eighteen holes in considerable less than par, but this seemed to be his "off day," and while his drives were long they often went out in the rough and he lost several balls. Here I learned of the system by which the caddies often stimulate the golf ball trade. While apparently helping the player in searching for the ball, they press it into the ground with their toe, and later return and salvage the ball and sell them at big discounts.

While on the subject the following story from a Western golf links may cause a smile. A couple of players had driven the balls out into the rough and as these were the last in their outfit they put in an anxious thirty or forty minute search for the missing spheres. Just as they concluded they would have to call their game off, a kind motherly old lady, who had been earnestly watching their fruitless search from her car, parked nearby, hailed them and inquired in a sweet anxious voice: "Would it be cheating if I told you where they are?" She had seen the balls roll under her car and there they had stopped, within reach but

WE DON'T HAVE THOSE OLD 8 mile speed limits NOW

Many states prohibited driving in excess of 8 or 10 miles per hour in "built-up" communities. Twenty miles per hour was once considered highly dangerous. Improvements in the automobile and advances in traffic control have changed all that. Likewise the constant improvements wrought by Shell in motor lubrication have made higher speeds safe for the automobile engine. That's the important thing about Shell Motor Oil. It is always ahead of requirements... ready now for next year's car. Q Low-temperature refining preserves all of the rich lubricating elements of Nature's best-balanced crude. No emergency ever finds Shell Motor Oil lacking in protective qualities. No wonder so many motorists are turning to Shell.

out of sight of the players all the time.

A SNAKE STORY

A black cat crossing your path is said to be a sign of bad luck—and so it proved to a large reptile not long ago, when somewhere in her meanderings, Nick's black cat crossed his path. Pussy appeared at the business place of her owner, proudly trailing the 27-inch snake from her mouth. The writer can vouch for the truth of this story, for he measured it, and by the "rule of thumb" it measured nearly seventy centimeters from the end of its nose to the tip of its tail—the cat he means—he didn't see the "snake."

TABLE D'HOTE

Last Saturday afternoon, while on their way down town after attending Barnett Bros. circus and concert, a little girl was heard to say, "Daddy, can't we go down to the hotel and see them feed the animals?" "Haven't you had enough circus for one day?" said daddy, hardly noticing just what she had said. "Yes," said the little girl, "but I'd like to go down to the hotel and see the animals fed." "They don't feed circus animals at the hotel, child," was the reply. "Yes they do," responded the youngster, "the man said after the performance we could see the wild animals fed at 'The Annex'."

GOOD JOKE ON THE FORD

Two young ladies from the Buckeye state, attired in white sport suits, and in search of a thrill, motored from camp down the river to this village one day last week and parked the rather dilapidated-looking Ford in front of a "soddy" fountain across from the court house, and then the thrill came sooner than expected. The eagle eye of the law observed that the car was without license plates—and when the occupants were interrogated they became excited and got things slightly mixed—stating that they were from "Michigan" and had come up here to "Ohio" on their vacation. They had driven up to their Sunmer camp in a large car, and wished to come to town, had taken the old Ford out of the garage without noticing that the license plates were missing they said. The Ford was taken into custody and the young ladies were allowed to return to camp in the car of a friend, after agreeing to return shortly with the license plates and square things up. They wired "Dad" in the city for maxims and advice, and got both by return wire, and came up the next afternoon and paid their dues, the clouds rolled away and everything was lovely again. After vacation is over and they return to the humdrum existence in Ohio's metropolis with its spot lights, traffic officers and mounted police, they will probably get some "kick" out of the remembrance of the time they "drove" a motor vehicle without license plates in the little village up in the North woods of Michigan.

RED-HEADED MUSIC-MAKER HAILED AS DISCOVERER OF MANY FAMOUS RADIO ARTISTS

Wendell Hall Host Of the Shell Program Has Started Many Budding Artists On Road To Fame Via the Microphone

In addition to having achieved international fame and success as a radio artist of rare talent and ability, Wendell Hall, genial host of the Shell program, is hailed as the discoverer of many of the most popular entertainers on the air today. These include such "finds" as Carson J. Robinson, Harriet Lee, Charles Loman, Muriel La France, Marjorie Lambkin and other stars of the air who owe their success in a big way to Wendell Hall's vision and foresight and to his well-nigh uncanny ability to sense and develop the latent talent inherent in many of the budding artists with whom he comes in contact.

So, Wendell Hall, has played and continues to play the dual role of the versatile, internationally acclaimed radio entertainer and "finder" of talent in others who would emulate him in their ambition to become favored radio entertainers. And many including those mentioned above have achieved stardom, thanks to Wendell Hall.

On the Shell program to be broadcast on Monday, July 7th, at 8:30 P. M. Central Standard Time, Wendell Hall will sing the sentimental ballad "Until We Meet Again Sweetheart," a type of song exceptionally suited to the well-modulated tones of his voice, and "Old Plantation Melody" in the singing of which he "croons" right into the hearts of his unseen audience.

The Shell Orchestra under the direction of Adolphe Dumont, Conductor, the Chicagoans Quartet and Chauncey Parsons, tenor, will be featured in a number of selections from famous operas and musical shows.

The program is as follows: "Gumcracker's March"—orchestra, Grainger. "Estrellita"—orchestra & tenor, Ponce. "The Moon Is Low"—orchestra & Quartet, Fred & Brown. "Until We Meet Again Sweetheart"—Hall, Link. "Singin' in the Rain"—Orchestra & Tenor, Fred & Brown. "Old Plantation Melody"—Hall, Link. "From the Caribbees"—Orchestra, Gardiner. "Soldiers Chorus" (Fr. "Faust")—orchestra, Gounod.
